The screenshot shows a course page for "Colleague Reporting Research Fundamentals" (ID: I-1GNJ20) by instructor S. Cavin. The price is $480.00. A note states: "Unless stated otherwise, all training sessions will be held in Eastern Time Zone (NY)". The page includes sections for "Learning Objectives" and "Prerequisites".

Learning Objectives

- Describe why research is important and defining critical terminology
- Identify notable forms used for researching in Colleague
- Locate metadata using Envision processes
- Utilize Tech Doc Online for researching files and fields

Prerequisites

Without having performed the following prerequisites, or having the prerequisite experience, you will be at a disadvantage in the class. It is strongly recommended you have met the following prerequisites:

- Access to a Colleague environment because you will use your own test or education account during this training.
- Basic knowledge of Colleague navigation.
